About the Previous Edition

The ninth edition of the Moot was organized virtually owing to the strict lockdown restrictions and the situation of the pandemic at that point in time. Although the experience was undoubtedly very different from a physically organized moot for both the organizing committee and participants, it did not hinder the event from being a success. There were no hassles or technical glitches that were faced by either by the participants or the judges. The competition was organized very smoothly owing to the resolute efforts of the MCA and the cooperation and support of all the collaborators involved.

The organising committee worked round the clock to make sure that the competition remained largely hassle-free and the rounds of the competition were held on time, free from any technical glitches. The participants received invaluable feedback from the judges, argued and faced stiff competition from their counterparts from sister universities. The passion, zeal and enthusiasm from the participants was stellar to watch even when all of it was virtually organized.

The MCA is committed to make this edition even bigger than the previous editions and hope that it provides the same level of enriching experience to all the participants.
