ABOUT MOOT COURT COMMITTEE

The Moot Court Committee (MCC) at K.R. Mangalam University is one of the most dynamic and student-driven bodies functioning under the School of Legal Studies. The Committee was established with the aim of cultivating advocacy, research, drafting, and courtroom presentation skills among budding lawyers by simulating real-life court proceedings.

The MCC conducts intra-moot court competitions to provide students with early exposure to advocacy and memorial writing. It also organizes the KRMU Inter Moot Court Competition time to time, which attracts participation from leading law schools across the country and provides a platform for intellectual exchange on contemporary legal issues. These events are judged by distinguished judges, senior advocates, academicians, and legal experts, ensuring that students receive valuable feedback and mentorship from the best in the field. The Committee regularly organizes training sessions, workshops, and orientation programs on research methodology, memorial drafting, citation methods, oral advocacy, and courtroom decorum. It also arranges judgment writing and trial advocacy competitions to expand the range of legal skills imparted to students.

The MCC functions with a clear vision:

- To bridge the gap between academic study of law and its practical application.
- To inculcate in students the qualities of critical reasoning, articulation, research rigor, teamwork, and confidence.
- To make students proficient in the art of legal persuasion, ethical advocacy, and client representation.

Through its tireless efforts, the Moot Court Committee has become the pillar of experiential learning within the School of Legal Studies. It ensures that KRMU law graduates' step into the legal profession not only with strong theoretical foundations but also with the practical acumen and professional etiquette required of competent advocates.

ABOUT JUSTICE K. SUBBA RAO

Justice Koka Subba Rao was born on 15 July 1902 and went on to become one of India's most influential judges. Justice K. Subba Rao was the 9th Chief Justice of India. He served as CJI from 30 June 1966 to 11 April 1967. He began his legal practice in 1926 as an advocate at the Madras High Court and gradually rose through the judicial ranks. In 1948, he was appointed as a Judge of the Madras High Court and later, in 1954, he became the Chief Justice of the Andhra High Court.

Highlighted Cases

Justice Subba Rao's most celebrated contribution came in Golaknath v. State of Punjab (1967), where, writing for the majority, he held that Parliament could not amend the Fundamental Rights enshrined in Part III of the Constitution. He introduced the doctrine of prospective overruling, ensuring that past amendments remained valid while preventing future ones from infringing upon fundamental rights.

In the case of Basheshar Nath v. Commissioner of Income Tax (1958), the Court held that Fundamental Rights could not be waived. Justice Subba Rao, in his concurring opinion, argued that while waiver of rights was permissible in the United States, the same could not be applied in India. He reasoned that Indian Fundamental Rights were not judge-made but introduced by the Constituent Assembly in the larger public interest. Hence, no further limitations such as waiver could be imposed beyond the restrictions explicitly provided in the Constitution. He warned that allowing waiver would leave individuals vulnerable to exploitation by the State. This judgment reinforced the non-negotiable character of Fundamental Rights in India's constitutional scheme.

In Kharak Singh v. State of U.P. (1962), while the majority refused to recognise a constitutional right to privacy, Subba Rao strongly dissented, asserting that privacy is an integral aspect of personal liberty under Article 21. Decades later, in K.S. Puttaswamy v. Union of India (2018), a nine-judge Bench unanimously recognised the right to privacy as a fundamental right.

Justice K. Subba Rao made a significant and enduring contribution to the field of law through his progressive and visionary judgments that reinforced constitutional principles, safeguarded fundamental rights, and advanced the cause of justice in India.

ABOUT MOOT COURT COMPETITION

The School of Legal Studies, K.R. Mangalam University, Gurugram proudly presents the 1st Justice K. Subba Rao Memorial Inter-University Moot Court Competition, 2026. The competition is named in honour and in memory of Justice K. Subha Rao, a distinguished jurist and former Chief Justice of India, who is remembered for his unwavering commitment to constitutional values and social justice. This prestigious competition is organized with the objective of nurturing legal skills, sharpening advocacy, and promoting research culture among budding law students across the country.

This competition has been conceptualized to encourage critical thinking on contemporary legal issues and to provide students with a forum to test their analytical abilities, oratory skills, and teamwork. Beyond academic and professional growth, the Moot Court Competition also enhances teamwork, leadership, and strategic collaboration, as participants must coordinate closely to develop coherent and persuasive submissions. It provides a vibrant forum for the presentation of diverse perspectives on the same proposition, enriching discourse and broadening participants' understanding of the law.

This Inter Moot Court Competition is a premier academic initiative that seeks to provide law students across the country with a distinguished platform to refine their forensic advocacy, analytical reasoning, and jurisprudential skills. Mooting, being an indispensable part of legal education, simulates real courtroom proceedings through hypothetical cases that often involve emerging, complex, or unsettled areas of law. This exercise bridges the gap between theoretical learning and practical exposure, enabling participants to apply principles of substantive and procedural law with clarity and precision.
