BACKGROUND TO THIS EDITION'S MOOT PROPOSITION

In India, the concept and implementation of reservations on the basis of caste identity has been the subject of heated debate and divisive opinion. Initially seen as a mode of upliftment for the backward classes, it is now viewed by many through the optics of distrust and suspicion, an unfair advantage at best. However, the beneficiaries of such affirmative action wish to retain their status, believing that such policies and measures are imperative for their growth as communities and peoples.

It is in this context that we witness the unfurling of a vivacious saga of revolt, determination, tragedy and triumph. A grand stand off between rival ideologies and perspectives. When the scales of conflict tipped in favour of the MIFP, the Parliament enacted the Akash Act, 2024, which was followed by the 107th Constitutional Amendment, the legislative manifestation of an anti-caste based reservation stance, which led to pan India unrest and discontent. This démarche was perceived to be a draconian attempt to undermine the basic structure of the Constitution and its enshrined principles.

The 4th Edition of the Justice G. D. Kamat Memorial National Level Moot Court Competition, 2026 explores the sensitive dilemma between caste and economic based reservations through the aforementioned Amendment while keeping in mind the germane Constitutional considerations and mandates.

THE MOOT PROPOSITION

Association for Affirmative Action v. Union of India

Factual Background

1. The policy of reservations in India, intended as a tool to achieve social justice and equality, has over the years become a contentious issue, generating widespread debate and political polarization. In recent decades, demands for inclusion of new communities in the list of backward classes have increased, often coinciding with electoral cycles.
2. In the 2019 General Elections, the Indian Peoples Party (IPP) made extensive promises to expand reservations for the Other Backward Classes (OBCs) and to include additional castes such as Karpus, Jhants, Marthas, and Lingadharis in the list of backward classes. The IPP, led by Prime Minister Mr. Arvind Jadhav, secured a comfortable majority in Parliament.
3. Concerned with the declining popularity of IPP and the growing political pressure of the upcoming elections, the Government issued an Office Memorandum dated 25 January 2023, enhancing OBC reservation in education and public employment from 27% to 38%, and adding the above-mentioned castes to the OBC list. The decision was announced in the Prime Minister's address to the nation on the Republic Day 2023.
4. The announcement triggered widespread student protests and public dissent across the country, particularly among sections of the youth and general category students. Social media platforms saw a surge in divisive posts and comments, and sporadic incidents of violence were reported. Several universities witnessed strikes and boycotts.
5. The Office Memorandum was subsequently challenged before the Supreme Court of India, which issued an interim stay on its implementation. As a counter to the protests, Solidarity Rallies were organized by OBC groups supporting the new policy.

THE MOOT PROPOSITION

Association for Affirmative Action v. Union of India

6. Amidst this unrest, Akash Arora, a 21-year-old political science student from the Mumbai Institute of Social Sciences, gained prominence for his viral speech denouncing the politicization of reservations. He advocated a 15-year phased transition from caste-based reservations to educational and economic criteria, ultimately leading to free education for all. His movement, titled “Move India Forward (MIF)”, rapidly gained national traction, particularly among students and young professionals.

7. On 14 February 2023, during a public rally organized by MIF at Azad Maidan, Mumbai, Akash Arora was shot dead by a young man claiming to have acted to protect his community’s new OBC status. Akash’s death galvanized national sentiment and he was symbolized as a martyr for equality.

8. In the aftermath, the MIF movement transformed into a political party – the Move India Forward Party (MIFP) – under the leadership of Kasturi Rajan, a brilliant young lawyer and close associate of Akash. The MIFP, supported by various youth groups, professionals, and industry associations, campaigned in the 2024 General Elections on the platform of building a casteless and equitable India, pledging to cap reservations at 35% and gradually phase out caste-based quotas.

9. The MIFP secured a historic victory, and Kasturi Rajan, aged 30, became the youngest Prime Minister of India.

Legislative Developments

10. As the first major policy step, Parliament enacted the The Akash Act, 2024, in memory of Akash Arora. The Act prohibited:

- The use of caste identity in any public, private or official communication, except for the limited purpose of implementing reservations;
- The formation of caste-based associations or organizations; and
- The publication or broadcast of caste-based identification in any media.

A*B*C*D*E*F*G*H*I

THE MOOT PROPOSITION

Association for Affirmative Action v. Union of India

The Act was challenged as violative of Articles 19(1)(a), 19(1)(b), and 19(1)(c) of the Constitution. However, the Supreme Court upheld its constitutional validity.

11. Encouraged by the decision, the Government introduced The Constitution (One Hundred and Thirty-first Amendment) Bill, 2025 on 30 August 2025, proposing:

- To restructure reservations on the basis of economic and educational backwardness;
- To phase out caste-based reservations over a 15-year transitional period.

12. The Bill was passed by both Houses of Parliament with the requisite majority, following extensive lobbying, public mobilization, and amidst of boycott of the session by major opposition parties. The Constitution (One Hundred and Seventh Amendment) Act, 2025 was subsequently notified.

13. This was followed by nationwide protests, violence, and civil unrest against the Amendment. Several civil society organizations, activists, and political parties under the name of Association for Affirmative Action (AAA) filed petitions before the Supreme Court challenging the validity of the Amendment as violative of the basic structure of the Constitution, particularly the principles of equality, social justice, and affirmative action.

14. Given the importance of the constitutional questions involved, the Chief Justice of India referred the matter to a Constitution Bench of five judges.

A*B*C*D*E*F*G*H*I

THE MOOT PROPOSITION

Association for Affirmative Action v. Union of India

Issues for Consideration

1. Whether the Amendment is inconsistent with the constitutional mandate of substantive equality and the State's obligation to promote social justice and protect historically disadvantaged communities?
2. Whether the power of the state to make special provisions for the advancement of SC, ST and OBC is part of basic structure of the Constitution?
3. Whether the Constitution (One Hundred and Seventh Amendment) Act, 2025, which restructures and phases out caste-based reservations, damages the basic structure of the Constitution, and hence invalid?
